Silver Surfer Hardcover Takes Readers on a Moebius Trip

Second Collaboration Planned

by Cliff Biggers

Comics fans may be very familiar with the finished product that reaches their local comics shop each week--but they might not realize that there are pages of sketches done in preparation for many comics, and that very often, a page or a cover is drawn and then abandoned because it wasn't quite what the artist or editor had in mind. These behind-the-scenes elements of comic book production will be very visible in Marvel's hardcover edition of the Stan Lee/Moebius Silver Surfer, available in comics shops in early December.

The 72-page hardcover will contain the entire 50-page Silver Surfer story that originally appeared in the two-issue Epic Comics special series; for this quality hardcover edition, however, the pages will be totally recolored by John Wellington, who will color the book based on Moebius' own guidelines.

"One page will be added to the story, and we'll show the planning, layouts, and changed artwork that went into creating this one-of-a-kind project," Epic Silver Surfer editor Margaret Clark explained. "There will be a foreword by Stan Lee and an interview with Jean (Moebius) Giraud, giving his perspective as the artist on the story."

The special hardcover will feature a new Moebius painting of the silver Surfer done especially for this volume; it will also be highlighted with a special silver logo. The book will be published in 6.5" x 10", the size of standard comics, rather than in the larger graphic-novel-sized hardcover format of the earlier Silver Surfer hardcover by Stan Lee and John Buscema, released last summer.

The special volume, which will include unused art, production sketches, etc., will be priced at $19.95.

Both Stan Lee and Moebius are quite pleased about the final results of the Silver Surfer project; in fact, according to Comicscene Quarterly, the two of them are already in the planning stages of another collaboration. The inmate, an all-new sf adventure story featuring non-Marvel characters.

Byrne Hot to Bring Back She-Hulk

by Cliff Biggers

John Byrne certainly can't be accused of cutting down his workload since he left Superman earlier this year. Byrne has returned to Marvel Comics, where his first title--West Coast Avengers--is set to offer its first Byrne issue this month. Waiting in the wings, though, are two new Byrne projects--one written by Byrne and one written and pencilled by the popular comics creator.

She-Hulk will return to her own monthly series written and pencilled by John Byrne, beginning in January of 1989. Joining Byrne will be inker Bob Wiacek.

"Our goal is to feature all the strange, odd, and eerie villains in the Marvel Universe," editor Bobbie Chase explained, "and to pit them against the She-Hulk."

The new series, which will be published in the same format currently used for Excalibur, Wolverine, and Punisher's War Journal, will be priced at $1.50. The tone of the new series will be light and action-packed.

The first issue will feature She-Hulk facing off against the Ringmaster and his Circus of Crime. In the second issue, the Terrible Toad Men return, accompanied by a special mystery villain. If you don't recall the Toad Men, maybe you need to dig back into She-Hulk's cousin's title; the Hulk battled them in Hulk #2. Later issues should bring back The Head Men and Doctor Bong.

Meanwhile, John Byrne is slated to take over the writing honors of The Avengers in early 1989; the regular art team of John Buscema and Tom Palmer will continue with the book once Byrne becomes the writer.

"I want to take a kind of Mission: Impossible approach to both groups," Byrne said. Each team will have a core group of heroes. As the situation demands, other members will be called to participate in a mission.

Under Byrne, the core group of the Avengers will be Captain America and Thor. Byrne plans to bring other core members in later, but he hasn't chosen them yet.

Byrne's core membership of West Coast Avengers will be the Vision, the Scarlet Witch, Henry Pym, Wonder Man, and Iron Man.

Wood, Kirby & Ditko Featured in January From Eclipse

by Ward Batty

Fans of classic comics will have plenty to look forward to next year as Eclipse plans to kick off the new year with three collections which will feature work by three of the greatest names in comics history: Jack Kirby, Steve Ditko and Wally Wood.

Shipping January 10, 1989 are World of Wood #5: Flying Saucers!, and The Jack Kirby Treasury Vol. 2: The Simon & Kirby Studio, 1940-1960. Two weeks later Eclipse will release The Mysterious Traveller by Steve Ditko.

It has been almost two years since World of Wood #4 was published. Eclipse explains that while the series was their most popular reprint series, it was ended with #4 because they ran out of available material to reprint. Now, with the cooperation of the Wood Estate, Eclipse will be able to release a fifth issue featuring Woody's Flying Saucer stories which were originally published by Avon in the 1950s. Also included in the issue is "Skull of the Sorcerer," a rare collaboration between Wood and Frank Frazetta. Rounding out this issue will be some previously unpublished art, courtesy of the Wood estate. Suffice it to say that this will be a must-have issue for all Wally Wood fans as well as fans of wild sf and great art. The comic will be in black & white and will retail for $2.00.

The second Jack Kirby Treasury will be a 96 page trade paperback. Eclipse describes the book as "...a comprehensive, profusely illustrated examination of the Simon & Kirby years. Written by Greg Theakston, from interviews with Jack and Joe, this volume details for the first time the long collaboration between the team responsible for Captain America, The Boy Commandos, The Newsboy Legion, Young Love, Boy's Ranch, Fighting American, and others too numerous to list." Eclipse promises that in addition to a comprehensive history, the Jack Kirby Treasury Vol. 2 will feature a wealth of previously unpublished artwork including rare pages, unpublished covers, never-before-seen pencil drawings from the Golden Age.

Before joining Marvel Comics and creating Spider-man with Stan Lee, Steve Ditko worked for a variety of companies in the 1950's and did what many consider the best work of his career. His best adventure strip was The Mysterious Traveller which was well-regarded for Ditko's inventive lay-outs and exquisite draughtsmanship. Eclipse's deluxe, 120 page trade paperback collects together what Eclipse describes as "The eerie tales of a man who walks in the shadows of life." The book will retail for $9.95.

If you are interested in any of these great collections, be sure and alert your retailer now, so they can be sure to have enough when the books ship in January. And don't forget to mention that you heard about it in Comic Shop News.

Action Unleashed as DC Heroes Unite

by Cliff Biggers

Action Comics Weekly has established itself as an anthology title featuring a variety of short serialized adventures--but Action Comics Weekly #635 will be quite different, because it will unite Superman, Green Lantern, Black Canary, and the modern-day incarnation of the Blackhawks--the first time this modern-day team has been used in the post-Crisis DC Universe.

The new story will fill the majority of ACW #635, although there will still be a Green Lantern installment by Jim Owsley and Mark Bright and a Superman 2-pager by Roger Stern, Curt Swan, and Murphy Anderson. The story that introduced the new Blackhawks will be written by critically-acclaimed author Mark Verheiden, creator/writer of The American and writer of Aliens, both for Dark Horse. The story will be illustrated by Eduardo Barreto and John Nyberg. The cover for the crossover story is being done by Barreto. DC assures readers who haven't been keeping up with the regular Action Comics Weekly title that this story will stand alone.

Action Comics Weekly #635 will hit the stands on December 1st.In other Action Comics Weekly news, the Demon will get begin a run in the title in ACW #636 in a series written by Alan Grant and illustrated by Mark Pacella and Bill Wray. The storyline will spin off from Cosmic Odyssey, picking up on Jason Blood's role in that series.

Speedy will get a solo series as well; that series is also set to debut in Action Comics Weekly #636 The writer for Speedy's solo outing is Mark Verheiden; the story is illustrated by new talent Tom Ramey. Action Comics #636 will also feature the beginnings of new Blackhawk and Wild Dog storylines, both done by the regular writer/artist teams for those series. As always, there will be a Green Lantern and a Superman installment as well. The cover by Dick Giordano will feature all of the book's heroes. In November, Jeff Butler will be doing the cover for Action Comics Weekly #632, featuring Speedy and Nightwing; John Bolton will contribute a Black Canary cover for ACW #633; and George Freeman will display his talents on a Green Lantern cover for ACW #634.

CORRECTION: The issue number and date on last week's issue is incorrect. Last week's issue should have been #71. CSN regrets this error.

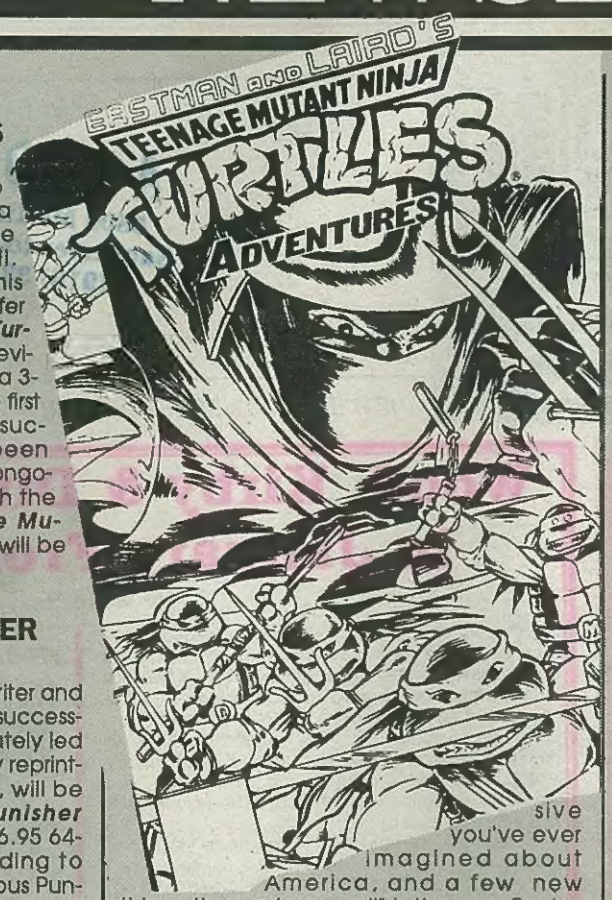
TURTLES EARN ONGOING ARCHIE SERIES

Eastman and Laird's Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles, the stars of two ongoing Mirage Studios titles and a series of trade paperbacks, have conquered color comics as well. Beginning in mid-December of this year, Archie Adventure Series will offer an all-new Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles Adventures #1, based on the television series. Archie already offered a 3-issue limited series adaptation of the first five episodes; that series was so successful that the book has now been added to the Archie line-up as an ongoing title. Dave Garcia will do both the story and art for the new Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles series. Each issue will be priced at $1.



MARVEL GRANTS PUNISHER GN HARDCOVER STATUS

Steven Grant and Mike Zeck, the writer and artist responsible for the immensely successful Punisher limited series that ultimately led to the Punisher's own series (recently reprinted in a Marvel trade paperback), will be presenting a new hardcover Punisher graphic novel in January. The $16.95 64-page graphic novel will, according to Grant, feature a "harder, more vicious Punisher than the character in the comic now." Talking to CSN about the project last June, Grant said that the book would be very much in keeping with the tone of the limited series, and he highly praised Zeck's artwork. A third Punisher graphic novel by Mike Baron and Bill Reinhold is in the works, but it has not been completed or scheduled yet.

HUNTRESS ON THE PROWL IN NEW TITLE

The Huntress returns to DC in 1989, courtesy of writer Joey Cavalieri and artist Joe Staton. The Huntress was originally the daughter of the Batman of Earth-Two; the events of Crisis forced some renovation of the Huntress storyline. The new series will explore the Huntress background and develop her post-Crisis character. Look for it in January or February of 1989.

FRIGHT NIGHT GOES TRICK-OR-TREATING

NOW Comics' Fright Night, based on the popular film, will feature an original Halloween story in its third issue, on sale in mid October. The issue will bring Peter Vincent and Charley Brewster up against brain bats, creatures which "crash land their spacecraft into an unsuspecting couch potato and then go about town raising the dead to help in the repairs of their ship." And these guys thought they had problems in the first two issues with a little thing like vampires! Jim Van Hise, Lenin Delsol, Nick Sigismondi, and Katherine Llewellyn are the creative team behind this Halloween special issue.

By the way, Jim Van Hise, writer of NOW's Real Ghostbusters series, is also the writer of Fright Night #3; according to a letter Van Hise sent CSN, the comic incorrectly lists Joe Gentile as the writer. Furthermore, this is the first of several issues of Fright Night Van Hise will be scripting.

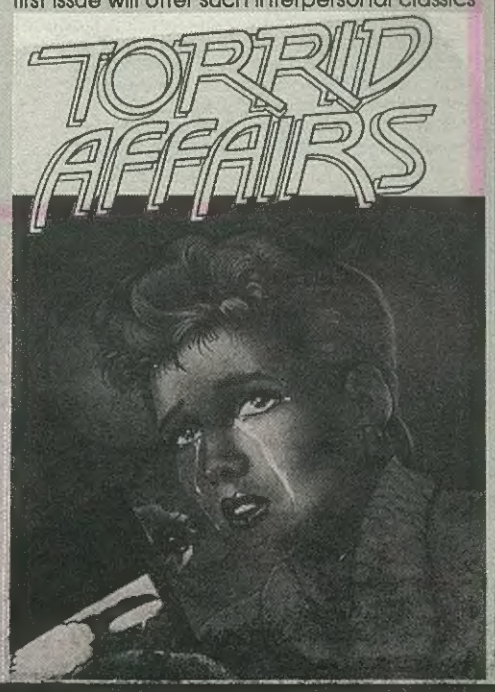
WE'VE ALL COME TO LOOK AT AMERICA...

Ralph Steadman's long-out-of-print volume, Ralph Steadman's America, will be available once again in December, thanks to Fantagraphics. The book offers the British satirist's insights into America, our culture, and our personalities; it's not a pleasant view at all. "Everything grotesque, nasty, and repulsive you've ever imagined about America, and a few new things thrown in as well" is the way Fantagraphics describes the book. The hardcover book will be published in a 12" x 9" format that will allow all the art to be featured at its best. There will be a 136-page softcover edition, priced at $14.95, and a $35 hardcover and a $45 signed limited edition hardcover. The softcover will have a brand new cover by Steadman; the hardcover editions will have toe original British cover.

DON'T YOU JUST LOVE A GOOD ROMANCE?...

Eternity Comics is continuing its series of 1950's reprints with its latest title, Torrid Affairs, featuring four classic teenage romance stories, including one illustrated by good girl artist Matt Baker. "Baker was one of the best at what he did," Eternity's editor Chris Ulm said. "His women are still sexy thirty years later, and they still have most of their clothes on." The new bi-monthly title will debut in December; the first issue will feature an out-of-character cover by Madman, best known for his horror and monster work. "We wanted to give him a short at something different and he really came through," Ulm said. "It's a modern piece that evokes the '50's mentality."The first issue will offer such interpersonal classics as "I Was a Love Gypsy," "Notorious Woman," "Fast Company," and "My Dangerous Pastime." There will also be a text piece, "I Had To Be Tamed." Don'cha just love it?



DECK THE WALLS WITH MARVEL POSTERS, FA LA LA LA...

Marvel will be unveiling four posters for the Christmas season this year; all four should reach your comics shop in early December. Wolverine, by Kent Williams, will be a painted poster released to tie in with the Havok & Wolverine: Meltdown limited series that will begin in November. Another extremely popular poster will be the Silver Surfer by Moebius, set to debut about the time the Stan Lee/Moebius hardcover Silver Surfer volume reaches your favorite comics shop. Two other poster will feature Groo the Wanderer, by Sergio Aragones, and Power Pack by June Brigman and P. Craig Russell.

CHAMPIONS GETS NEW FORMAT, NEW ARTISTS

Champions #15, available in January, will introduce Champions new format with an all new set of artists. The book will move to the 52-page format popularized at Hero by Flare, and it will be retitled New Champions. Howard Simpson will take over as regular artist with the fifteenth issue; Larry Houston, Jeff Albrecht, Mark Propst, Mark Beachum, Jim Valentino, and Dell Barras all have artistic contributions lined up for in New Champions #16-18, but then Simpson will return. Champions #19 and #20 will be part of an epic 158-page crossover story featuring the New Champions and the Southern Knights, whose comic is published by Comics Interview Press. Keep checking CSN for more information on this inter-company crossover.

MAXWELL THE MAGIC CAT GOES IN A BOX

Maxwell the Magic Cat, the humorous strip both written and drawn by Alan Moore, was reprinted in four volumes by Acme Press last year. Now Eclipse and Acme have joined forces to offer all four volumes of Maxwell the Magic Cat, in a special illustrated Maxwell slipcase, for 25% less than the price of the four individual volumes! The set should be available in early December, priced at $15.95.

BATTLE AXE HACKS ITS WAY ONTO '88 SCHEDULE

Comics Interview has a new comics-and-prose magazine, Battle Axe: The Magazine of Savage Adventure, set for late 1988 debut. The new title will feature a painted cover by Todd Doney; "Thornn, Cursed Warrior" by Ed DeGeorge, Chris Ecker, and Mike Mathews; "Berzerker" by Gary Carlson, Angel Medina, and Aubrey Bradford, and more, including a reprinting of a Dragonman story by Otis Adelbert Kline. The editor for the new magazine is Chris Ecker; it will be published bi-monthly and will offer 48 black-and-white pages for $2.

PEANUTS HIGHLIGHTED IN ISRAELI COMICS EXHIBIT POSTER

Comics are the focus of a major exhibition at the Ruth Youth Wing of the Jerusalem-based Israel Museum that will be on display from now until February 1989. The exhibition, which features a variety of comic strip and comic book characters, follows cartoon development beginning with ancient Egyptian drawing and ending with illustrations from well-known contemporary cartoonists.

The exhibit, simply entitled Comics, is designed to "historically show the development of comics as an artform and the comic character as an icon," says Rebecca Rushfield, director of special projects at American Friends of the Israel Museum. "We want to show the integration of comics into high art." Marvel, DC, and European and Israeli comics characters are prominently featured.

The poster for the exhibit features Charles Shulz' popular Peanuts characters.

POCKET CLASSICS A HIGH CALIBER PRODUCT

Caliber Press will be working with Academic Industries to make the Pocket Classics illustrated series available to comics shops throughout the country. This series of classics adaptations has previously been available by mail order only. This will mark the first time any stores have carried the books.

"We feel this is a great avenue for comic shops to reach a much wider audience," said Bryan Andrews, spokesman for Caliber Press. "Not only is it familiar material to the potential customers, but by being book size, it's also a much more familiar format." Each title features 64 page adaptations in black and white with color covers, priced at $1.95. First Comics has plans to release a new series of Classics Illustrated in the fall of 1989; until then, Caliber's Pocket Classics are the only classics adaptations available.

"If comic shops can get the general public to read the Pocket Classics, it'll be that much easier to get them to pick up First's Classics Illustrated. Once they see what can be done with the comics format, they may start to pick up other titles," Andrews said.

Look for the Pocket Classics to reach comics shops in December.

LONGSHOT A SURE BET IN MARVEL COMICS

Longshot will make his return in Marvel Comics #15, on sale December 1st. The single-issue story by Ann Nocenti and Larry Dixon has Longshot "dreamwalking" with a strange creature--the only problem is, it may not be a dream at all! CSN can give you a sneak peek at some of Larry Dixon's pencils for this story, in fact. Sometime in 1989, Longshot is in line for a return of his own series by Ann Nocenti and Art Adams; keep reading CSN for more news.

V FOR VENDETTA FEATURES N FOR NEW

(9/25) V for Vendetta #8, on sale December 15th, will be the first issue to feature all-new material by Alan Moore and David Lloyd. In this issue, V bombs the monitoring systems, freeing people to speak their minds for the first time in years. This issue and the two after it mark the first time the conclusion to the V for Vendetta storyline has ever been published anywhere in the world.

KIKU SAN KICKS OFF NEW SERIES

Barry Blair, creator of both Elflord and Samurai, has a new series lined up from Aircel for November release; Kiku San, a spin-off from Elflord, focuses on the young warrior Kiku San, who explores the hidden kingdoms beneath the streets of the great metropolis, where vast caverns hold mystery and terror never before seen by human eyes. Kiku San will be published monthly by Aircel.

SPACE: 1999 SET FOR '89

A-Plus Comics will offer full-color reprints of the entire Charlton Space: 1999 series beginning in early 1989. The first issue was done by Gray Morrow; subsequent issues will feature John Byrne work. David and Dan Day will be supplying the cover the for the first issue, which will also offer articles about the series. Each issue will be priced at $2.50.

JOHN BOLTON VOLUME KICKS OFF ACME PRESS ART LINE

The Art of John Bolton is the premiere volume of Acme Press's new line of art books; the 120 page volume will focus on the creation of his recent and most personal work to date, Someplace Strange, done with Ann Nocenti for Marvel Comics. Bolton has previously done work for Classic X-Men, Black Dragon, Alien Encounters, and Tales of Terror, just to name a few things you might have seen his name on previously. The book will be priced at $15.95, and should be available in early December.

WATTERSON FILLS THE BILL FOR COMICS JOURNAL

Comics Journal #127, on sale in December, will feature a lengthy interview with Bill Watterson, the artist/writer of the extremely popular Calvin and Hobbes comic strip. Watterson rarely gives interviews--so fans of the strip won't want to miss their shot at seeing into the mind of the man behind one of the best humor strips currently running. The same issue will also feature a speech given by Ralph Steadman.

STARMAN'S NO PIKER AGAINST THE POWER ELITE

Starman has his share of problems in the near future; in Starman #6, he has to face the Power Elite once again while he's busy trying to clean up in the aftermath of Invasion! At least he's not standing alone in this adventure, though; he'll have Green Lantern, the Atom, Blue Beetle, and Power Girl guest-starring with him. Look for Starman #6, courtesy of Roger Stern, Tom Lyle, and Bob Smith, in your comics shop on December 1st.

'TIS THE SEASON TO BE BLOODY...

Carl and Larry, "those slap-happy merchants of murder," according to Comics Interview publisher Dave Kraft, will get their own Christmas Special this year. Kraft is billing this book as "the Christmas special for people who hate Christmas Specials." For the cynics among you who find the idea of a couple of guys shooting down Santa funny, the Carl and Larry Christmas Special is just what you're looking for! The special, priced at $2.25, is written by Henry Vogel and illustrated by Mark Propst and Willie Peppers.

CALIBER SLIGHTLY OFF-TARGET

Shortly after CSN announced Caliber's addition of The Realm to its line-up in 1989, Caliber contacted us with the following letter:

"Oops! We goofed! When we first sent out our first press release we had noted some things that now have to be changed.

"We will not be publishing The Realm. Guy Davis had a verbal contract with Caliber and was supposed to sign the contract the very day the press releases were sent out. However, he received an unbelievable offer from another company at the last minute and will likely be published by them."

Davis will be doing another series for Caliber, however, as was previously announced in CSN.

BOOKS OF BLOOD PORTFOLIO IN LIMITED CIRCULATION

Clive Barker, the author of the Books of Blood and director/author of Hellraiser, is quite an artist as well. Few horror fans in America have seen Barker's artwork done for the British editions of the books--but Arcane Comix is set to change all that in November, when they release a Books of Blood portfolio featuring six full-color lithographs signed and numbered by Clive Barker. The portfolio is limited to 1000 copies, and carries a hefty $200 price tag. There will also be a seventh print created just for this edition. As with all items of this sort, be sure to let your local comics shop know that you're interested--and mention that you saw it in CSN.

NOVEMBER HOT PICKS!

by Cliff Biggers

Long-time comics fans may remember when November was usually a slow comics month; that certainly isn't the case any more, however, and this month stands as proof of that! There are almost three dozen books that are sure to disappear from comics shelves pretty quickly--and some of them are destined to appear on many fans' Christmas lists for this year. Furthermore, there are almost a dozen hit first issues helping to warm up the early winter chill!

Advanced Dungeons and Dragons #1 is the latest DC adaptation of a TSR game--and it's sure to be the most successful of all, since AD&D is the most successful RPG ever. Dragonlance has already demonstrated that gaming fans are ready to become comics fans if the right book is offered to them--and you can expect them to latch on to AD&D #1 with the same enthusiasm they've shown for Dragonlance. Meanwhile, fantasy fans should enjoy this one for its comic-book story, even if they've never played the game.

Amazing Spider-man #313 is another Todd McFarlane issue--isn't that enough to make it a hot pick? If you haven't seen McFarlane's Spider-man interpretation, then you must have been in solitary confinement or a coma; everyone's raving over this artist, and most people say Spidey hasn't looked so good since Ditko left the book. Furthermore, this issue brings you McFarlane's Lizard--and it's just as good as you might expect.

Batman #429 presents the final installment of "A Death in the Family." Robin's dead, the Joker's an ambassador from Iran, and Batman is pretty perturbed about the whole scenario. So what does he do? Find out by reading this comic. I suspect a lot of people will, so don't expect it to sit on the shelves for long.

Humphrey Bogart is one of the most popular and best-known actors of all time--and Eclipse will be offering a graphic novel adaptation of Bogart's life just in time for Christmas sales. This book isn't going to sell like the latest superhero extravaganza, mind you, but you can be sure that a lot of people who don't normally buy comics will check this one out. Bogart may not have a long shelf-life at all.

Mazinger Graphic Novel

Captain Britain has become a key member of Excalibur, but a lot of people aren't aware that Alan Davis did a couple of hundred pages of Captain Britain material before he ever became the artist of the latest hit mutant book. Marvel will educate everyone this month, though, when they release the Captain Britain TPB, offering the first American publication of this material. Look for this one to outsell Wolverine's TPB mega-hit from a few years ago!

What a month for hot artists! Frank Miller is one of the megastars in the comics field, and now DC is reprinting one of his earliest--and hardest to find--Batman stories in a new Christmas collection, Christmas With the Superheroes #1. The O'Neil/Miller Batman tale is just one of a heaping handful of Christmas tales being reprinted here, but that's the one that's going to make this book an instant sellout. Oh, the new John Byrne cover won't hurt, either....

Concrete was the big winner in the comics awards this year, but a lot of you CSN readers haven't checked it out because it's a black and white title. Well, Dark Horse makes it easy for you to see what you're missing, because they're offering a full-color Concrete Color Special that offers some of the best early Concrete material--plus all-new pages for the long-time fans. This title should certainly solidify Concrete's success...

Cosmic Odyssey #1 and #2 have been rousing successes everywhere--and I don't think anyone who's read the first two parts will pass up on Cosmic Odyssey #3. Take our word on it, Mike Mignola is the next hot artist in comics--and this is some of his best work yet!

November offers a real oddity: The Daily Planet Invasion! Special Edition. This gimmick will probably disappear in record time--this is a tabloid-sized newspaper (that means the same size as CSN) that will offer readers a 16-page issue of the Daily Planet, complete with columns, comic strips, etc. Oh, there's also some Invasion! coverage here--but it's the idea of seeing a comic-book-newspaper that will captivate most fans' imaginations.

Peter David has become one of the best writers in comics today--and he's bringing his talents to Dreadstar #41. Jim Starlin has cleared out the old storylines, leaving David free to take this book in exciting new directions--and that's just what he's doing! Don't miss out on his first issue--you don't want to have to pay premium prices later on.

The Elementals was Comico's first big success--and some of the early issues have been sold out since shortly after publication. Now you can read those first issues in an inexpensive package when Comico offers the Elementals TPB. This includes the hard-to-find first appearance from the Justice Machine Annual, by the way.

Tim Vigil became a cult favorite with the publication of Grips a couple of years ago. Now he's back with a new publisher and a new title, Faust. It's an adult book--not only because of violence but also due to sexual content--but you can be sure this one is going to sell great! The hero is pretty much Grips revisited, but there are some magical overtones this time around.

Each Christmas season, DC offers some real gems in hardcover form: this year, we get one in November and another in December. The November offering, The Greatest Batman Stories Ever Told, is sure to outsell last year's superb Superman volume. It also offers more pages, which will please all those who thought the Superman book ended too soon. 1989 will be Batman's year--but this book lets you get a head-start.

Few books get to be CSN Hot Picks twice, but Havok & Wolverine: Meltdown #1 was tapped for the honor back in September and again this month. You may recall that, just as the September Hot Picks issue of CSN was going to press, Marvel announced a two-month delay on this fully-painted bookshelf-format limited series written by the Simonsons and illustrated by Kent Williams and Jon J Muth. Now everything's back on schedule, though, and you'll be able to see one of the most attractive X-Men-related books ever done! Don't blink or this one will be gone!

Todd McFarlane's been busy; not only did he make Spidey a hot pick this month, he also has a hot title at DC in Invasion! #2. Keith Giffen promises that this series will shake up a lot of DC characters and concepts--but what's going to sell this book is the promise of 80 pages of primo McFarlane art per issue. No one does Spectre better than McFarlane--and I'm all set to lobby for a McFarlane Adam Strange series--but the thing that will make this book such a sizzler is that he doesn't do anyone badly!

Kiku San #1 is sure to please Barry Blair fans and regular readers of Elflord. This is a new series of elf adventures--and most fans say that Blair's work is the best since Wendy Pini.

If you didn't buy the Love & Rockets collections, you missed some new material done by the Hernandez Brothers for the volumes. Now Fantagraphics has made it easy for Love & Rockets completists to keep their run intact, though; Love & Rockets Bonanza #1 will offer those stories plus extra material in a standard magazine-sized package.

Last year's biggest-selling Marvel Masterworks volume was the X-Men; I suspect that will happen again this month, when Masterworks Volume 7 reprints X-Men #11-21 in hardcover. Marvel's also making the reprinting of the first volume available this month, so X-Men fans should

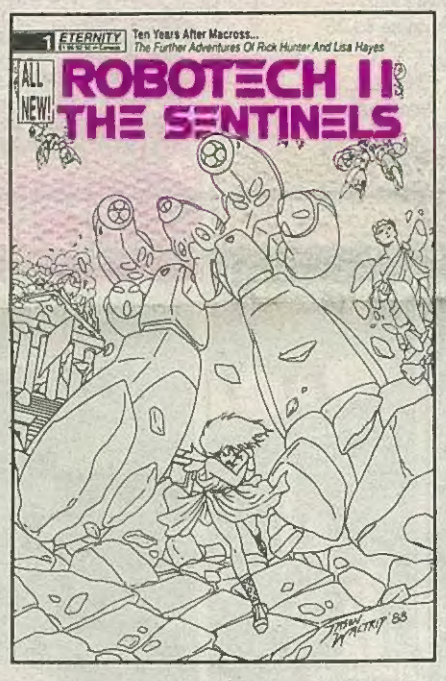
First Comics was the first company to succeed in the Japanese manga field, and now they're setting a new first with the publication of Mazinger as a graphic novel. This all-new fully painted graphic novel is the first publication anywhere of a tale by Go Nagai, Mazinger's creator. This isn't just another reprint--this is a quality product making its world premiere here, courtesy of First. And this is one premiere you're invited to attend!

A couple of issues ago, we told you about the Mickey Mouse in Color hardcover from Another Rainbow. If you missed it, though, pay attention, because this is 1988's biggest and best Mickey Mouse commemorative. The hardcover reprints some classic Gottfredson and Barks material, plus lots of text about Mickey and his creators; there's a standard $40 edition and a deluxe $250 edition that's oversized, signed and numbered, and has a bonus record of a Barks-Gottfredson interview. While you may not be able to afford that limited edition, the standard edition is priced so that everyone can latch on to a copy--and you can rest assured that a lot of people will.



Mister Miracle, Barda, Oberon, and friends have become comics favorites thanks to Justice League International; now everyone's favorite escape artist returns in his own comic, and DC promises the same light-hearted touch on this one that has made JLI such a success. Look for Mister Miracle to be DC's big 1988 regular-series hit.

4Winds has produced several superb projects for Eclipse, and November is the month they go into business as a publisher. Tim Truman and Chuck Dixon are the driving forces behind 4Winds, and they've set up their own imprint to offer the best in foreign material as well as original material. They kick off their line with Moving Fortress by Barriero and Alcatena, a superb science fantasy never before printed in English. You won't believe the stunning artwork in this graphic novel--but you won't get a chance to see it if you don't latch on to Moving Fortress quickly, because it won't last long.

No one needs to tell you just how hot Moebius has been. No one needs to tell you just how hot Graphitti limited edition hardcovers have been, either. In November, Graphitti will offer the entire Moebius/Jodorowsky Incal saga in one signed-numbered hardcover edition. You'd better let you comics shop know right now that you want this one--it won't be there waiting on you for a second look.

Nausicaa of the Valley of Wind is Viz's second major title in its growing line of books, and it's quite famous among animation fans already. I suspect this manga translation will be Viz's biggest success of 1988. Try it and see why!

Next Nexus #3 is a hot pick. If you have read #1 and #2, you know why. If you haven't, you're obviously satisfied to live without one of the best-written, best-drawn comics on the stands today. It's not too late to open your horizons, though!

Dean Motter has deserved major comics success for a long time. Now, with the Prisoner series from DC, he seems to have achieved it. Motter's Prisoner isn't an adaptation of the popular television classic, it's an all-new story that picks up 20 years after the series left off. It's loyal in tone and approach to Patrick McGoohan's original, though--and that's probably why Prisoner fans who've rarely looked at comics are searching this one out. If you overlooked it as just another adaptation, Prisoner #3 is a good place to find out just what you've missed out on.

Remember how hot Robotech was when it first came to comics? Well, it looks like that sort of success is due to come around again; there's a new film coming up, and Eternity's Robotech: Sentinels #1 ties in with that. It's an attractive book, faithful to the appearance of the series, and sure to please Robotech fans. With the renewed interest the film will bring, this book should be Eternity's biggest title in November.

Steve Rude is an artist's artist. His work captures the life of his subjects in deceptively simple lines--you wonder why it isn't as easy as he makes it look. If you want to see just how he works, then you'll consider The Steve Rude Sketchbook a must-have item. I had a chance to see some of Steve's sketchbooks in Chicago, and you can be sure I'm excited to see this book on Kitchen Sink's list. A lot of Nexus fans won't be able to pass this one up--and a lot of would-be comics artists shouldn't pass it up, since it shows you a great deal about comics illustration.

Everyone knows that the Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles are one of the biggest success stories in comics, right? Did you know that they're returning to television this year? Rest assured that the television series will bring TMNT fans out of the woodwork--and First is all set to offer them a chance to read those early issues of TMNT in color when it offers the Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles IV TPB this month. This volume offers more of the Eastman-Laird issues in color for the first time--and this is another book sure to appear on Christmas lists everywhere.

Trollords was a real success in black and white, but Comico is going to make it even hotter when they offer it in full color this month. Trollords #1 is a great introduction to comics' wackiest trolls--and once you're introduced, I foresee a long lasting relationship between you and this comic.

John Byrne is back at Marvel, and West Coast Avengers #42 is his debut issue of this title. Suffice to say this is every bit as good as Byrne's best work on the original Avengers title years ago. Furthermore, he has some of the best Avengers to work with in WCA #42--Vision, Scarlet Witch, Hawkeye, and Wonder Man. Most Byrne fans feel this is the sort of book he does best--and you can be sure they'll all be picking it up to see just how good it is.

The Inferno finale appears in X-Factor #38 and X-Men #242 this month; this is the climax that mutant fans have been waiting for, as X-Men and X-Factor face off. Don't get in front of the X-Men fans the day this book comes out!

Overlooked Gem of the Month

I've never denied having an offbeat sense of humor; I can enjoy the most subtle humor as well as broad slapstick, and I have a real penchant for the crass at times. Maybe that's why I enjoy Peter Bagge's Neat Stuff so much; it's a humor comic that is willing to be funny on any and every level, and even if some jokes fall and some of the humor doesn't quite hit on target, there's enough in every issue that does work that I'm pleased with the book. Bagge's art is much more inspired by the Groening-Barry school of art than standard comics, but that's all right--it seems in keeping with his strange whimsy. If you like truly bizarre absurdity, give Neat Stuff a try.

UPCOMING COMICS QUICKLIST

The Upcoming Comics listing of scheduled titles and the dates that they should arrive in comics shops across the country. That doesn't mean that the books will always be in your shop on the date listed: some publishers ship from different parts of the country, and the farther away the publisher is from your local comic shop, the longer it will take the books to get to you. Publishers are sometimes forced to reschedule titles, and that might result in some date changes on some releases.

Each entry presents the title and number of the book, followed by the release date; if a title doesn't have a scheduled release date (some publishers merely say that their books will ship in November without giving a date), we don't give you a date. After that is the Publisher of the comic and the price. If a book you're looking for is on the index and doesn't arrive in a week or two after the date, be sure to ask the friendly folks at your comics shop; they may be able to update you on schedule changes that have affected that book.

Hang on to this list! It presents the titles that are supposed to ship during the next four weeks. The first CSN each month lists every title scheduled to ship to ship that month.
